

Dear Dodging Duck Brew Crew,

Right on Schedule, the Old No. 9 arrives on time down at the Dodging Duck Depot

Join us for Number Nine Night on Friday, September 4 from 6-9PM as the Old No. 9 arrives at the Dodging Duck Depot. Wet your whistle with a pint of Old No. 9, the latest addition to the complement of fine beers crafted right here in Boerne, former rail town along the lines of the San Antonio & Aransas Pass and Southern Pacific railroads. The Old No. 9 will be a limited express run available for the month of September or while supplies last. So come early and come often to fill your tender with something cool to keep you chugging down the line.

Also at the depot is a boxcar full of limited edition Friends of Old No. 9 pint glasses and growlers that will be available for sale to commemorate the year of the 09ers. So before you depart to make your next connection, top off a commemorative 09 growler to take with you on your travels.

A percentage of the proceeds for the glasses, growlers and Old No. 9 beer will be donated to the Friends of Old No. 9. So Climb Aboard and help support local railroad and transportation heritage.

Also, just off the tracks on September 4th, oil paintings and gicleé prints by artist Kristy Watson will be on display at the Dodging Duck Depot. The farm train will be arriving with paintings of horses and cattle along with train subject paintings. This exhibit will continue through September.

Check out the FON9 website HYPERLINK "http://www.oldnumberrnine.org" www.oldnumberrnine.org for further information about the organization, scheduled events, membership and the upcoming Wednesday, September 9, 2009 (09.09.09) Business & The Arts luncheon and evening reception with guest speakers Bruce Flohr & Lynn Barnett.
